

Cathy Wogamon is a Nurse Practitioner with the VA Medical Center in Lake City, FL. She provides wound and ostomy care to the Veteran Population in North Florida and South Georgia through the outpatient setting and via Telehealth. Cathy began her wound career in the long-term care setting in 2005 discovering that she had a love for wound care and later becoming wound care certified in 2010. She later became foot/nail and ostomy certified.

Cathy's 23 year RN career spanned many facets to include acute care, pediatrics, home health care, long-term care, Professor of nursing and wound care consulting. Cathy later accomplished her educational goals of obtaining her DNP as well as her ARNP. She became a Board Certified ARNP in 2014 and began serving the Veteran population where she remains today.

Cathy is a member of AAWC and WOCN and she has served as a volunteer for the WOCNCB for several years. Cathy has presented several posters at wound conferences and she is a published author with Ostomy Wound Management.